BLEZEL VIDAL

PERSONAL PROFILE

Versatile and motivated professional with a nursing background, now eagerly transitioning to software development through a 12-week intensive bootcamp, leveraging skills in critical thinking, problem-solving and attention to detail. My nursing background instils qualities of resilience, decision making and can-do attitude which seamlessly translate into tech. Thriving in high-pressure environments, I bring a unique perspective and adaptability to any team. Encouraged by my software developer peers to explore Python, I've found a fascination with coding, drawn to its brain-challenging nature. Eager to become a backend software developer but also open to opportunities for a frontend developer, I'm committed to mastering new technologies and advancing in the tech industry. Committed to embracing challenges, expanding my skill set, and contributing to innovative projects, I'm excited about the endless opportunities for growth in IT.
